

Enex TestLab – Independent IT Testing

What We Do

How much does a failed ICT project cost?

What are the financial implications of a faulty product rollout?

What hidden costs are there in procuring the wrong equipment?

Are your systems protected against the latest Malware threats?

How do you know your network security measures work?

Through scientific testing we can provide answers to problems like these. We know how to reduce risk at every level for the client. Our testing is completely independent with proven methodology and quality end-to-end solutions.

Who We Are

We are Enex TestLab - The World's Premier Independent testing facility. Enex TestLab, founded in 1989, originally as part of RMIT University, Australia, has now grown into a commercial testing facility unparalleled globally. We have achieved an enviable reputation drawing on decades of independent product testing. With a team of highly qualified, innovative and experienced staff we have undertaken testing for some of the world's leading names. We provide robust, rigorous, scientific, independent testing and reporting services to significantly lower our clients' risk and maximise return on investment when researching, procuring, developing, marketing, or introducing products.
